

Want to book a CWILL BC author or illustrator for your school?

Did you know that your district already receives government funding for just such a thing? All grants are available through ArtStarts.

AIE Component 1

A district can apply for a CWILL BC author or illustrator to give an hour-long workshop or presentation in the school classroom and be eligible for funding to cover up to 60% of the CWILL BC member's fee!

The District Superintendent decides on how big your grant is and how to administer it. As a teacher, all you need to do is send a request for Artstarts funding along with the CWILL BC member's curriculum vitae to your district contact.

You can find more information here: www.artstarts.ca/funding/aie.html

Want to book a CWILL BC author or illustrator for a long-term residency?

There's no need to go through your district; there are grants available to teachers!

AIE Component 2

As a teacher, you can apply for a CWILL BC author or illustrator to come into your school for a long-term residency (a week or more). That residency could be three hours a day, from Monday to Friday, for one or more specific classes of students. The funding your school would then be eligible for would be 60% of the CWILL BC member's fee.

To apply, fill out the application here:
www.artstarts.ca/funding/aie2.html
and submit it to Artstarts (see link for specific instructions). Along with the application, you must include the CWILL BC member's curriculum vitae.
