Style & Substance

It's not every day you see thought-provoking original art while on the hunt for a new outfit, but Jonathan+Olivia (listed below) isn't your usual clothing store. For one thing, it's actually a pair of shops. The first features après styles by the likes of Sacai, Marni, Maison Margiela and Yohji Yamamoto. The other carries high-end streetwear and sneakers by brands such as Y-3, Undercover, Vetements and Be@rbrick, and it displays "Bombing Middle England" by street artist and political activist Banksy. Stencilled on concrete, Banksy's piece shows elderly ladies bowling with lit cannonballs while wearing hats reminiscent of military helmets. It's sure to spark conversations about more than clothing.—Sheri Radford
