

Tour of the Century

MAY 12 Four decades ago, Bono, The Edge, Adam Clayton and Larry Mullen Jr. weren't yet household names in North America. Everything changed in 1987, when U2 released The Joshua Tree. To celebrate the 30th anniversary of their blockbuster record, the Irish rockers are kicking off a world tour at BC Place, performing the album in its entirety, plus lots more beloved tunes. Along for the ride are Mumford & Sons, opening on the first leg of a tour that's sure to be as iconic as "Where The Streets Have No Name." See page 99 for info.

Rocket Man

MAY 12 The first Canadian to walk in space. Fighter pilot. Best-selling author. Social media star. Singer. Guitarist. Only one person on the planet can claim this extraordinary résumé: Chris Hadfield (page 100). Back in 2013 he grabbed the world's attention by performing David Bowie's "Space Oddity" on the International Space Station, and now he's bringing his Canada 150 Tour to the Orpheum Theatre. Don't miss the spaceship commander's stories, songs and images, all to celebrate our nation's sesquicentennial.

Ice Ice Baby

MAY 18 Attention, fans of figure skating: Investors Group Stars on Ice presented by Lindt (page 102) is bringing some of Canada's biggest names to Rogers Arena this month. On the star-studded roster are Meagan Duhamel and Eric Radford (pictured), Kurt Browning, Patrick Chan, Elvis Stojko and Kaetlyn Osmond, among others. Don't miss a breathtaking show filled with all the spins, flips and jumps that have earned these stars world championships and Olympic medals.
