

Coast Vancouver's Seafood Destination

Seeking a genuine taste of the Pacific Northwest? Look no further than Coast. Located right in the heart of downtown, this welcoming spot has long been a favourite of locals and visitors alike wanting to sample fresh seafood. It's part of the award-winning Glowbal Restaurant Group, which for 20 years has been running Vancouver's most delectable dining destinations.

Coast has something for every seafood lover. Perfect oysters served on the half shell. Bowls of lobster bisque and clam chowder. Appetizers of Dungeness crab cakes, prawn cocktails and scallop crudo. Expertly prepared sushi rolls, nigiri and sashimi. Succulent entrées of spring salmon, sablefish, King crab legs and Atlantic lobster. Local, in-season fare such as ling cod and spot prawns.

And of course there's no forgetting the star of the show: colossal seafood towers brimming with mussels, clams, crab, lobster and a whole lot more.

Well-chosen wines and perfectly mixed cocktails are the ideal accompaniments to these seafood feasts. Coast also offers one of the city's most popular happy hours. Gather with friends over oysters, calamari, garlic prawns, fish tacos and fish 'n' chips.

Lush leather banquettes invite you to linger. And outside, the newly expanded streetside patio boasts the best seats in town for people-watching on Alberni Street, downtown's poshest shopping district. There's no better place to while away a sunny afternoon.

But a word of warning: Once you're settled in at Coast, drink in hand and seafood tower in place, you might never want to leave.
