

ICE ICE BABY

NOV 23-27 Your kids know every word to “Let It Go”—and belt out the song at least once per day. They can recite all the adventures of Woody, Buzz, Jessie, Slinky Dog, Little Bo Peep and Mr. Potato Head. They pretend to be Lightning McQueen and Mater every time they enter a vehicle. In other words, your kids will absolutely love Disney On Ice presents Worlds of Enchantment (page 47), which skates into the Pacific Coliseum for nine shows filled with Disney-inspired music, dancing, stunts and, of course, superb ice skating.

REEL FUN

TO OCT 14 Attention, movie buffs and cinephiles: grab a giant tub of popcorn and settle in, because the Vancouver International Film Festival (page 46) is celebrating its 35th year with screenings of more than 300 thought-provoking films from around the world. The True North series focuses on Canadian storytellers, while the Gateway series shines the spotlight on adventurous artists from East Asia. Stories on the fringe move to centre stage in the Alt series, and the Next series concentrates on virtual reality, gaming, music and various emerging digital platforms. Lights, camera, action!

DAZZLING DANCE

OCT 28-29 Since its founding five years ago, Jessica Lang Dance (page 48) has become one of the most acclaimed troupes in the United States. See their Canadian debut at the Vancouver Playhouse when they perform a mixed repertoire that includes The Thousand Yard Stare, their latest work, honouring those affected by war.
