

GOOD ENOUGH TO EAT

Avocado butter. Cacao butter. Mango butter. Sweet almond butter. Virgin coconut oil. Once you discover some of the ingredients in Butter Babes Body Butter, you'll be tempted to give it a nibble. But resist the urge, since it's not an hors d'oeuvre but rather the ultimate organic product for hydrating, regenerating and healing the skin. Sold in a handmade bamboo container, this toxin-free creation is ideal for treating minor burns and reducing the appearance of fine lines, wrinkles and stretch marks. It even has a natural SPF. Find this vegan, antioxidant-rich multi-tasker at BeautyMark (page 25).

SUPER SKINCARE

Only a true superhero can hope to triumph over skin damage caused by air pollutants. Fortunately, there's Daily Superfoliant. This new product from Dermalogica packs a powerful punch, using activated binchotan charcoal powder to resurface the skin, niacinamide to help prevent the signs of aging, and an enzyme trio of papain, lipase and subtilisin for deep cleansing. Malic acid, lactic acid and rice bran extract all work to exfoliate, while tara fruit extract and red algae help prevent pollutants from penetrating or adhering to the skin. Once again, Dermalogica has saved the day. Available at Shifeon (page 25) and Vida Spa (page 26).

IT'S GLOW TIME

When your complexion needs a pick-me-up but the clock is ticking, it's time to visit the Glow Room at Project Skin MD (page 25). A customized Glow experience delivers all the benefits of a facial in just 25 minutes. Consider it the fast track to healthy, radiant skin.