

Vancouver Canucks

October 9, 11, 17, 22, 26

Hockey fans rejoice as the new season gets underway this month at Rogers Arena (page 49). The Canucks have sold out every home game since 2002, but determined fans always find a way to snag a seat. Roberto Luongo, Ryan Kesler and the Sedin twins are all back for the latest round of Canada's unofficial religion, worshipped in arenas large and small across the country.

Ali Milner

October 14

Local girl Ali Milner may be just 19 years old, but she already boasts a powerful resume, filled with gigs at Lilith Fair, the Toronto International Film Festival and the 2010 Olympic and Paralympic Winter Games. Hear her unique blend of indie pop and jazz at Cory Weeds' Cellar Jazz Club (page 53)—and keep an eye out for this rising star in the future.

Halloween Haunts

Looking for some spine-tingling chills and thrills? Venture—if you dare—on a Haunted Vancouver Trolley Tour (Oct. 8 to 31) with The Vancouver Trolley Company (page 53) to visit eerie locations and hear spooky tales of the city's history. Or climb aboard the Stanley Park Halloween Ghost Train (Oct. 8 to 31; page 29) to see the haunted farmyard. The truly brave visit Fright Nights at Playland (Oct. 15 to 31; page 29) for hair-raising rides and haunted houses. Boo!

Jack Johnson

October 1

Hawaii has given much to the world: US president Barack Obama. The TV show Hawaii Five-O. And singer-songwriter Jack Johnson (page 31), who rolls into town this month for a concert at Rogers Arena. Eco-minded, multitabled Johnson, who also surfs and makes films, is donating the profits of this tour to charity.
