

A Taste of the Orient

TO SEP 11 If you're craving the flavours of Asia, pull on some stretchy pants and head to the Panda Market (page 32) for an evening of sipping, tasting, nibbling and munching. This night market in Richmond is the closest you can get to an Asian street market without boarding a plane. Enjoy the ever-changing roster of live entertainment while browsing for jewellery, cellphone accessories, colourful socks, fleece blankets and more. The best part? No passport required.

Funny Lady

JUN 18 If you fondly remember Mrs. Wiggins and the Charwoman, and you always waited anxiously for the ear tug and Tarzan yell, then you grew up watching The Carol Burnett Show. See the first lady of comedy live at the Queen Elizabeth Theatre as she tells stories from her illustrious career and—just like in the glory days of her Emmy Award-winning TV show, which attracted 30 million viewers a week—answers questions from the audience. See page 70.

Dare to Dream

TO JUL 10 A boy from a small mining town discovers that his talents and dreams lie in becoming a ballet dancer, but he fears his older brother and widower father won't understand. When this simple story is set against a background of music by Elton John, the results are pure magic, as evidenced by 10 Tony Awards (including best musical). Billy Elliot (page 73) continues all month at the Stanley.
