

Fall Fashions

These are not your grandmother's sweaters: say goodbye to the lumpy, shapeless monstrosities lurking in your closet and hello to some stylish new sweaters—as well as chic ponchos, capes and cowls—from local designer Cecilia Rebagliati. Her Cecile Benac label (www.cecilebenacknitwear.com) features elaborate patterns and vibrant jewel tones, and each piece is hand-knitted and hand-assembled right here in Vancouver. Find your new favourite piece for fall at Blushing Boutique (page 22) or Fine Finds (page 25).

Bowled Over

Add a splash of colour to your table with a log bowl from Loyal Loot (www.loyalloom.com). Available in a rainbow of hues, the bowls are handmade in Alberta from reclaimed wood, mainly willow, ash, poplar and birch. The slow, intricate process involves between six and 12 months of drying time before a bowl can be turned and finished, but the final creations are definitely worth the wait. At Provide (page 26).

DAZZLING DESIGNS

Vi and Priscilla Phan, sister entrepreneurs from Vancouver, started OhKuol because of a shared love of jewellery. Their fall/winter collection sparkles with rich autumn colours such as deep violet purple and charcoal grey. Check out their gorgeous gemstone creations—hand-made using wire wrapping and lost-wax casting techniques—online at www.ohkuol.com, and prepare to be enchanted. At Barefoot Contessa (page 25).

TOO COOL FOR SCHOOL

Tots, teens and in-betweens can go back to school in style this year.

IN THE BAG

Students feel like superheroes when outfitted with a personalized Spider-Man, Batman or Star Wars (pictured) backpack from Pottery Barn Kids (page 20). No capes required.

LISTEN UP

Eco-conscious kids are all ears when listening to Re:Plattan headphones from Urbanears (www.urbanears.com). Made from unused parts from previous seasons, each colourful patchwork pair comes with the protection of a specific 5-sq-m (54-sq-ft) patch of Costa Rican rainforest, identifiable by the included GPS coordinates. Sounds good to us. At Walrus (page 26).

RAINY DAYS

Puddle jumpers make a splash in whimsical waterproof boots by Montreal's Tram Footwear (www.tramfootwear.com). Grab-and-pull rubber handles mean even the most wee of water babies can manage on their own. At Hip Baby (page 19).

DOTTY FOR DOLLS

Each t-shirt from Lotty Dotty (www.lottydotty.com) features a screen-printed figure with a sewn-on Velcro bathing suit, allowing pint-sized fashionistas to add and remove miniature designer outfits as the sartorial urge strikes. It's like playing with paper dolls, but better.
