

Last Look

One of our favourite views of the city

BY SHERI RADFORD

You wouldn't know by seeing it today, but Coal Harbour used to be an industrial area filled with sawmills and warehouses. Now the area boasts numerous luxury hotels, the award-winning Vancouver Convention Centre, and some of Vancouver's most expensive real estate, with penthouse condos that regularly sell for millions of dollars. To see why the area is so popular, simply stroll along the seawall and notice the sparkling ocean, snow-capped mountains in the distance, floatplanes taking off and landing, and steady stream of yachts and sailboats gliding in and out of the harbour. Don't forget your camera. E

A tranquil evening in Coal Harbour, as seen from the Vancouver Convention Centre

PHOTO ©DAN BRECKWOLDT/
DREAMSTIME.COM

