The Ocean Wise Cookbook 2: More Seafood Recipes That Are Good for the Planet edited by Jane Mundy (Whitecap Books; $34.95): Many of Canada's top chefs and restaurants contributed to this sustainable-seafood recipe collection, created in partnership with the Vancouver Aquarium (page 59). Learn how to make rainbow trout ceviche, seaweed salad, savoury anchovy eclairs and more.

Light Years: Memoir of a Modern Lighthouse Keeper by Caroline Woodward (Harbour Publishing; $29.95): Some might find the job of lighthouse keeper to be too solitary, but that's what author Caroline Woodward was seeking: uninterrupted stretches of quiet time in which to write. She found that—and a lot more—when she accepted a job at the Lennard Island Lightstation eight years ago.

Francisco Kripacz: Interior Design by Arthur Erickson (Figure 1 Publishing; $50): Vancouverites are very familiar with Arthur Erickson's architecture, such as Simon Fraser University and Robson Square. In this newly published book, written a decade before Erickson's death, he pays tribute to the man who was his partner in life and work, the flamboyant, controversial interior designer Francisco Kripacz.
